

STORAGE CLAUSE

Subject to the terms, exclusions, clauses, and conditions of the Policy, or those endorsed therein, it is understood and agreed that the Company shall compensate the Insured for any damage or loss that occurs during storage of the goods transported, under the following conditions:

Notwithstanding the provisions of the Policy, the insurance shall, in particular, continue covering the goods insured (except with regard to coverage for War, Popular Uprisings or Civil Commotion), including the time stored in a transit warehouse, the warehouse of the consignee or another warehouse at the agreed point of final destination.

Coverage of the Policy is extended from the date on which unloading of the vessel is completed for another _____ days.
